

Art in Environmental Science

To engage our members with the environment, we used arts to encourage full sensory engagement with environmental education.

The members did many interesting activities during their CCA. For example, they created art work with recycled materials such as magazines and egg cartons. The art work was used to decorated the Green Corner to make it inviting.

We used egg cartons to make roses in an upcycling session.

We can reuse the used papers and turned them into art work with our imagination!
